Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from hear disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present allies to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some iterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the classes. The physician, ignorant of the classes of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the course would have endrely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that a disease known is half sured."

Nuns Fined.

A police court judge in Nantes, France, yesterday inflicted fines of $3,20 upon each of twenty-seven Ursuline nuns, and a fine of $5 upon the mother superior, for presistently refusing to quit their convent, in compliance with the law dispersing religious communities.

The defendants pleaded that both the grounds and the buildings themselves belong to the order, which has been au-thorized to carry on educational work. The prosecution, while not contesting this argument, insisted upon obedience to the set of congregations and at the some time gave warning that further refusal by the nans to leave the buildings would be followed by ejection.

During the trial the court room had to be cleared, because of the demon-strations of Catholic sympathizers, who, at the conclusion of the hearing, accompanied the nuns back to their convent

The other three boys were nearer the shore-line and succeeded in jumping to safety. As each youngster jumped he kicked the cake of ice farther into the stream, making escape for their play mate impossible. Then the boys who were astely on shore realized Eimer's danger and secreamed for help.

Mounted Policeman John Trotter responded, and went on a run to the Outland Cance Club, where he broke down a door and got a boat. With another man to help him, he got the boat into the water, and the two caught the sl-
